The Museum of Motherhood

Through exhibitions and education, we tackle the ubiquitous nature of reproductive identity, birth, and parenting by examining the social, psychological, and economic realities embedded in these experiences and by turning the lens squarely on the people at the center of these endeavors.

The Florida Wildlife Corridor Foundation

FWCF programs include the multi-day summit called Corridor Connect, expeditions, film screenings and presentation, Corridor curriculum, the Corridor mural campaign, and sharing a window into wild Florida through exhibits, installations, and their gallery. These actions raise awareness of the Corridor and inspire support statewide and beyond for the protection of the missing links in the Corridor.
